DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-9, 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sutter(5,924,094).

3. As per claims 1, 19-20, Sutter discloses a method for altering encryption status in a relational database in a continuous process(see col. 43, lines 45-55, col. 50, lines 39-44), providing a table in the database, the table including a maintenance area and a base area, the base area having a first set of records(see col. 9, lines 10-22); copying the first set or records from the base area to the maintenance area, thereby creating, in the maintenance area, a second set of records; in response to a user action, modifying a record in the second set of records(see col. 13, lines 39-60, col. 59, lines 11-25); altering encryption status of the base area; copying the second set of records in the maintenance area to the base area, thereby creating, in the base area, a third set of records; and modifying a record in the third set of records(see col. 43, lines 45-55, col. 50, lines 39-44).

4. As per claim 2, Sutter inherently discloses a trigger, modifying a record in the second set of records is implemented in a trigger which is added to the table(see col. 43, lines 45-55).

5. As per claim 3, Sutter discloses wherein modifying a record in the second set of records including receiving data manipulation language statements(see col. 6, lines 61-66).

Art Unit: 2131

6. As per claim 4, Sutter discloses wherein each base area in the database table have a corresponding maintenance area(see col. 3, lines 40-52).
7. As per claim 5, Sutter discloses emptying the maintenance area(see col. 68, lines 64-67, col. 69, lines 4-19).
8. As per claim 6, Sutter discloses emptying the base area before the step of altering(see col. 69, lines 4-19).
9. As per claim 7, and 9, Sutter inherently discloses setting the value of a record in the first set of records to NULL(see col. 43, lines 45-55).
10. As per claim 8, Sutter discloses changing the data type of the base area(see col. 72, lines 6-20).
11. As per claim 16, wherein modifying a record in the third set of records includes receiving data manipulation language(DML)statements(see col. 6, lines 61-66).
12. As per claim 17, wherein the base area includes a first column of the table and the maintenance area includes a second column of the table(see col. 9, lines 10-22).
13. As per claim 18, wherein the step of altering encryption status of the base area includes activating encryption means of the base area(see col. 43, lines 45-55, col. 50, lines 39-44).

Response to Amendment

14. The Applicant states a first set of records are copied to the maintenance area, thereby creating a second set of records in the maintenance area. The Examiner disagrees with the Applicant. Sutter discloses that data is synchronized between databases(see col. 9, lines 5-22).

Art Unit: 2131

15. The Applicant states that Sutter fails to disclose a user action, modifying a record in the second set of records. The Applicant states that Sutter discloses all user interaction takes place with a local copy of data, which is periodically synchronized, in the background, with a server. The Examiner disagrees with the Applicant. The replication engine user interface is a run-time component which provides a user interface for operator control of the replication engine at the site(see col. 12, lines 30-34).

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Jenise E. Jackson whose telephone number is (571) 272-3791. The examiner can normally be reached on M-Th (6:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.) alternate Friday's.
